The Journal of Discourses (often abbreviated J.D.) is a 26-volume collection of public sermons by early leaders of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (LDS Church). The first editions of the Journal were published in England by George D. Watt, the stenographer of Brigham Young. Publication began in 1854, with the endorsement of the church's First Presidency, and ended in 1886. The Journal is one of the richest sources of early Mormon theology and thinking. It includes 1,438 sermons given by 55 church leaders, including most numerously Brigham Young, John Taylor, Orson Pratt, Heber C. Kimball, and George Q. Cannon. This Complete Set has been compiled and published by church members. It includes an index for each Volume, and is fully optimized for reading on today's latest mobile devices. Hyperlinks to all volumes and sermons finally make browsing this huge collection easy for anyone. The Journal of Discourses deservedly ranks as one of the standard works of the Church, and every rightminded Saint will certainly welcome with joy every number (issue) as it comes forth. — President George Q. Cannon, Journal of Discourses, Preface, Volume 8. Want more? Advanced embedding details, examples, and help! Want more? Advanced embedding details, examples, and help! These ebook editions of the Journal of Discourses are based on the Wikisource text, which in turn is based off page scans of the original books from the BYU library. These are pre-release editions. I've done some programmatic proofing but haven't gone through the texts line-by-line yet. If you find any typos (and there are still quite a few left), email me with the volume number, the title of the talk, and what the typo is. Thanks!
